Convention Held Truly Yankee Institution

By Stephen Bolles

Seventeen conventions of the republican party have been held. The one scheduled for Cleveland on June 10 will be the 18th. They began back in 1854 when the republican party was in the hey day of its youth—a virile party opposed to the encroachment of slavery on the new territorial possessions of the United States and a check against the growing arrogance of the oligarchy that was being built in the south on a reminiscence of feudal days.

These were tollers of the north. They knew that the earned bread by the sweat of their brows had not been the sweat of human beings held in bondage. The world had moved since the days of the Caesars and the Charlemagnes. The whole civilized world was awakening to the wickedness of the slave system, and the north had succeeded in thoroughly convincing the nation that could not continue always to exist with half the states supported by paid labor and the other half by slave labor. The question was more than a moral one. It was one of political economies. So out of this and the virile youth of the nation to form the republican party.

Out of those seventeen conventions held since the first one was called to order by Henry S. Lane, a six footer, his front teeth out, a complexion described as something between a sun-baked and a yellow fever, to whom the world has been a home where the candidate was nominating on the first ballot, either by a overwhelming vote or unanimous. Grant was named twice without a dissenting vote. McKinley once in 1896 and Roosevelt once in 1904. Every other convention held in division, a battle royal with the divisional would continually think that Lincoln would be nominated in 1864 without opposition but Grant received the vote of Missouri, 22 in number, as per instructions.

The longest convention ever held when the voting started to deadlocked was in 1864 at Chicago with the nomination of Garfield after 37 ballots. Hayes received the nomination after 7 ballots in a convention that raised sensation and gave to the forensic oratory of the nation that greatest of all orators presenting a candidate, Edward G. Bissell, in company with James G. Blaine, James G. Blaine like the white plumed Henry of Navarre, Bissell had said, and ever afterward Blaine was known as the Plumed Knight.

Many of these conventions have been lacking in the spirit of excitement though most always something outstanding may be found that adds a certain touch and lends to good writing. To me congress as a deliberative body or not, in one may look at it, does not represent truly the American political idea. It is a convention with its delegates, its strongly interested crowd, the stare and the bated breath, the speeches and finally the roll calls and the tenseness of the moment when state after state registers its verdict.

The first republican convention was held from a previous meeting held at Pittsburgh, Feb. 22, 1856. Then it was determined that, having been properly accouched, the infant republican party should be given a chance to test its lungs and its mounting powers at a regular convention. It was the Hill when the convention met June 17, at Philadelphia. It may have been remembered at the time that while the men of Warren, fighting for liberty at Bunker Hill were not victorious yet they showed the enemy of what mettle they were.

LABOR PLANS HAND IN NEW MOVEMENT

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Madison.—Wisconsin's newest potential movement, the Conference of Progressive Political Action—to be meeting next week in Madison—was organized yesterday by representatives from every state to the Madison. The organization meeting is scheduled to begin Sunday at 10 a.m. in the Madison Labor Temple.

The call for the conference was signed by representatives of several labor unions and includes plans for laboring a voluntary nonpartisan body.

NO AMERICAN BIDS ON SHIP

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Washington.—Henry P. Peplin, director of ship sales of the shipping board, testifies today in the house shipping inquiry that he refused to turn over for disposal the steamship Martha Washington, later sold to a British concern for $50,000, because no American bids were considered. The law stipulates that such a step must be taken before the ship can be sold to foreigners.

"Merrily They Roll Along, Along—"

When auto owners who have cars to sell bring them up to those little ads in the Gazette's classified columns.

It's no trouble at all—this way to run them right into the hands of prospective buyers and close satisfactory deals at once.

Gazette ads do the work, and that's what Mr. Lawson, of 715 Glen street, discovered when one of these little ads sold his Maxwell touring car for him the day after it appeared.

Ask the man who's phone told how good Gazette ads are at selling cars.

Then call 2300 yourself.

SOCIALISTS WILL ASK MILLERAND QUIT PRESIDENCY

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE WON'T PARTICIPATE OTHERWISE.

IS BRIAND BLOC

President Wasted American Loan, Charge of Radical Publication:

Paris.—The executive committee comprising forty members of the radical socialist party of France, today resolved to refuse to participate in any government which does not promise to realize a program, the first point of which is the resignation of President Millerand.

George Bork, one of the editors of Quotidiano, organ of the radical socialist opposition, in an article today, charges that two-thirds of the amount placed to the credit of France by American bankers to finance the franc were "wasted" by President Millerand. Finance Minister François, himself, told yesterday that the franc had been "wasted" by the American government.

Mr. Bork writes:

"In negotiations for a political object just preceding the recent parliamentary elections, he adds that immediately after the elections, the franc again depreciated as a result of declarations made in official circles.

The franc convention, ever held when the voting started to deadlocked was in 1864 at Chicago with the nomination of Garfield after 37 ballots. ## INMATE TAKES LIFE IN LAKE AT MENDOTA

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Portland, Ore. — Calvin Coolidge was endorsed for the republican nomination for president in Friday's Oregon state primary by 47,000 voters, according to an account given by hospital officials by another inmate.

Power was strolling around the hospital yard, walked down to the lake and into the water and lay down. Before help could reach him he was drowned.

Power's parents are his wife and six children, five of them under fourteen. The county is supporting the inmate.

The station man drove to the home of his brother, and is said to have stopped in the road to converse with a man. A shot gun was used in the alleged slaying. Mrs. William Rowenski was injured when she tried to stop the team, frightened by the report of the report.

Rowenski surrendered to Sheriff Blom at Eagle River.

AMENDMENT IS REFUSED

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Washington.—By a vote of 49 to 25, the state refused today to attach the Gooding long and short bill amendment to the army appropriation bill.

Senate rejected an amendment which would prevent the expenditure of any funds for rivers and harbors under the appropriation bill until the Gooding bill was "finally disposed of in both houses of congress."

DANCE RULES TAKE EFFECT

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

The new Rock county dance hall ordinance was published Friday, making it effective. County Clerk Howard W. Clegg, who has been investigating the dance hall for several months, said he would not issue any yearly or individual dance permits until the blanks were removed from the inspectors' bonds filed by the inspectors and badges issued. Consequently Rock county will go danceless, officially, for a few days at least.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE

Whitewater Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters who will be here Monday, when the annual South Wisconsin Pythian League contest is held, will be the crack Whitewater K. P. band. The Whitewater Knights of Pythias third rank team will compete at 9:30 a. m. Monday.

PYTHIANS FETE 2 HEADS OF ORDERS

Honor Fred Larsen, and Dora Lowe at Delavan Monday.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE

Delavan—More than 1,000 members of the Knights of Pythias, and Pythian Sisters of Wisconsin, will come to Delavan, Monday, to pay honor to the heads of their respective organizations, who for the first time in history, are both from a small city; Fred C. Larsen being grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias and Dora H. Lowe, grand chief of the Pythian Sisters. The celebration of "Pythian Day" will be the annual third rank contest of the South Wisconsin Pythian League at the Delavan Opera House, with third rank teams of eight cities competing.

Various parts of the all day program will be held at the opera house, the club room, the Pastime theater, the Delavan hotel, and the Highland hotel.

Contest lasts All Day

The program for the contest, held morning and afternoon, shows the teams in the third rank contest competing as follows: 8 a. m. Clinton; 9:30, Whitewater; 10:45, Beloit; 12:45, Janesville; 1:20 p. m. Fort Atkinson; 2:45, Waukesha; 3:45, Evansville; and 5:45, Brookfield.

Broadheads defending the honors won last year, when it was awarded the silver loving cup for third place.

The business meeting and luncheon of the leagues will be held at noon at the Delavan hotel.

A picture show, at the New Pastime theater, will be given for the ladies at 2 p. m., and a grand program at 3 p. m. at the Knights of Pythias club rooms.

Big Parade at Night

The Doleys parade at 7 p. m. will furnish the grand spectacle of the celebration, with members of the Lake Mills temple of Beloit and Aden temples of Racine, as well as members of other temples throughout Wisconsin and northern Iowa, in the line of march.

Following behind the Doleys will be the nine different lodges with their drill teams in full costume and various stunts for the detection of the spuds.

After the parade, the Doleys go to the Highland hotel, dressed prettily for the occasion, when they will confer the Khegoshan titles on the long line of Tyres. More than 200 candidates are expected. The first seven orders of the work will be followed by a Doleys float at the hotel.

Special Vandeventer Act

A special troupe of entertainers will furnish four acts of entertainment. They have been secured from a Chicago booking concern, at an expense of several hundred dollars. The entertainment will be open to the women.

Following this, the candidates will be subjected to the fourth order, during which they cross the hot sands of the desert and reach the oasis, it is expected, about 5 a. m.

The streets of Delavan will be decorated especially for the occasion, which is expected to attract one of the largest crowds ever seen in this section at a Pythian celebration.

Andrews to Speak on Discoveries

Beloit—Roy Chapman Andrews, famous explorer, will be in Beloit the week of May 25, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Andrews, before starting for the Orient June 10. Under the auspices of the Beloit culture, his mother, Mr. Andrews will lecture at the Congregational church May 30 on his prehistoric discoveries. Mr. Andrews will return to China to renew his exploration work in the Mongolia desert, having just completed raising $250,000, which will finance the work for five years.

Special to the GAZETTE

Lake Mills—Installation of an automatic telephone system in Lake Mills, at a cost of $27,500, has been started by the Interurban Telephone company, operating exchanges at Lake Mills, Waterloo and Sibley. When the work is finished in the fall, the time, the 750 subscribers of the local exchange will no longer get their calls through operators. The number will be secured through moving a dial on the telephone.

Six operators, now employed at the local office, will be dispensed with upon the completion of the work. Long distance calls will go through the switching station at Jefferson. Help will be needed for the bookkeeping department.

The contract for the work was let to the Automatic Electric company of Chicago, and a large crew of men at work. Already 150 of the old type of phones have been discarded by the automatic pieces. All of them will be switched over to the new system at the same time. In the meantime three existing automatic phones, will be given service as usual by the operators.

Lake Mills is one of the first smaller cities in Wisconsin to install the automatic system, now to be used in Wausau and Sparta. The local exchange has been operating about 20 years. Now changes in equipment, the exchange will be necessary.

Lake Mills, manager said Saturday.

SOCIAL FORECAST.
Spring and brides did not run true to form in Janesville, at least, this year. But with a few warm days this week, renewed hope has been given that after all there will be a spring season and so with the brides. There will be brides this June, perhaps not as many as in past Junes, but enough that this month may still lay claim to the title of the "bride's month." Miss Lydia McKibbin, daughter of Mrs. M. McKibbin, 432 North Bluff street, has chosen June 18 as her wedding day, will be feted at the first of a series of pre-nuptial parties, Wednesday night, with Misses Mary W. C. Condon, Madeline and Mrs. David J. Condon, 15 North Chatham street, will be hosts at a 7 o'clock dinner. Miss Mary Beardon whose marriage is to take place June 3, will be honor guest at the second pre-nuptial function, Sunday night, with Mrs. Herman Langer, Town of Harmony, as hostess. Mrs. J. A. Jiru, 1514 Ruger avenue, is entertaining at a company, Tuesday night for Miss Pear.

The annual ladies' night banquet of the Methodist Brotherhood will be held Wednesday night in the church of the Resurrection. Activities continue for Tuesday, an annual affair, is the banquet which the Service Star Legion will give for members of Company M. This will be held at the Y. M. C. A. at 7 p. m. At the meeting of the Eastern Star Study class, Wednesday afternoon, at Masonic temple, officers are to be elected. Madames William Sherer, John G. Rexford, J. L. Wilcox, Albert Schaefer, John M. Whitehead, and S. F. Richards go to Waukesha, Wednesday, to be in attendance at the annual convention of the Wisconsin Masons at Menasha. They will represent the Apollo and MacFieWell clubs. Khawansians from Janesville, Beloit, and Elkhorn will dine at the Grand hotel, 6:30 Wednesday night.

A may dancing party, will be given Friday night at the Chevrolet club by the Misses Margaret Monahan, Edna Nelsdorff, Lois Bear and Margaret Burns.

Harriet Carle Engaged—Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Chaffee, 615 1/2 Lawrence avenue, announced the engagement of their daughter, Harriet Marlon, to Edgar J. Leach, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Leach, Sr., Somer, Tenn., at a 6 o'clock tea, Friday night. Mr. Leach came to Janesville with the General Motors Corporation and for the past year has been engaged in experimental work.

The tea, held at the Carle home, was one of the prettiest of the season. Sixteen guests were seated at one large table, artistically decorated in rainbow colors, with varicolored candles and a large floral centerpiece of sunflowers, tulip roses, and sweet peas, flanked with small vases of carnations.

After bridge, a blue basket tied with maline ribbon was passed and the guests drew tiny bluebirds holding limmericks telling of the engagement. Prizes at cards were taken by Mrs. E. H. Amerohol, Miss Anna Jackman, and Mrs. Aubrey Pihm and Mrs. Le Bartlett, Beloit.

Those who attended from this city were Madames Stanley R. Smith, Mary Doty, Wilson Lane, Charles L. Field, William Judd, J. P. Baker, C. S. Jackson, Thomas Nason, J. P. Thorpe, Fred Howe, J. W. St. John, J. D. Deachorn, Edward Amerohol, Frank Blackman, Mary Yance, E. V. Whitten, Anna McNeil, David Watt and Mrs. Isabel Smith.

Mrs. and Mrs. Wild and Mr. and Mrs. Dalleo entertained a large company at a dancing party, Monday night at the Beloit Country club.

Junior Prom Brilliant—What is considered to be the most elaborate and enjoyable social event ever held in the high school building since its completion, was the junior prom, an event ranking with annual commencement in interest and anticipation. In the two large gymnasiums Friday night.

Two hundred couples, at least half of them high school students, at-

HEADS CATHOLIC WOMEN

MRS. JOHN FITZGERALD.

Under the leadership of Mrs. John Fitzgerald, 121 Court street, the membership of the Catholic Woman's club here has advanced to 475. This is the largest Catholic woman's organization in the city. It is functioning with semi-monthly meetings and maintaining night classes in domestic and fine arts, gymnasium and Elsie classes. Mrs. Fitzgerald was re-elected president of the club at the annual meeting April 26. She is also president of the Salvation Army advisory board, a member of the American Association of University Women, Janesville chapter, and acted as chairman of the program committee of St. Mary's Parent-Teachers' association last year.

Dancing started at 9 p. m. with a full eight-piece orchestra furnishing the music, and continued until 11 p. m. School officials, including the board of education, principal of the high school, and superintendent of schools, as well as many alumnus of the school, were among the guests.

Decorations were the most beautiful ever seen in this city, a garden effect being carried out, with a color scheme of pink and green. The entire ceiling was covered with green streamers, hung at regular intervals with festoons of pink blossoms, etc.

Those who had charge of the affair, which was sponsored by the junior class, were Ruth Austin, Virginia Blakely, George Huggins, Vernon Barber, Nancy Wheelock, Ethel Wolfe, Albert Peale, Dorothy Jensen, decorations; Nancy MacLugton, Jean Southland, Parker Putnam, music; and Dorothy Jensen, program. Faculty members serving as advisors were Miss Mildred Mandel, advisor of the junior class. In general charge, Miss Ruth Jenkins, V. E. Klontz and Miss Mercedes Sleder.

Miss Wilcox Dinner Hostess—Miss Helen Louise Wilcox, 616 South Third street, a student at Beloit college, will entertain six college friends at a dinner party, Saturday night, at the Colonial club.

12 at Presbyterian Gathering—Twelve women of Presbyterian Church Aid division were entertained, Friday afternoon, at Mrs. F. W. Woytendyke, 113 South Third street. After a short business meeting the women sewed on articles for the church. Refreshments were served by the hostess' daughter, assisted by two other little girls.

Local Girl Honored—Miss Helen Hart, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. Hart, 621 Prospect avenue, was elected to the University of Minnesota, on the basis of scholarship, as announced in the list of student honors on Cap and Gown day. She was elected to Sigma XI, an honorary scientific society and to Gamma Delta, honorary society in agriculture. Miss Hart is taking a post-graduate course at the University.

Mrs. McVicar Has Club—Mrs. William McVicar, 616 South Main street, was hostess, Friday afternoon, to a two table bridge club. Luncheon was served at 1 p. m. at a table decorated with various colored tulips. At cards, pictures were taken by Mrs. Otto Lutkus and Mrs. William Curtiss.

Women Sew—Mrs. J. F. Carle, Highland avenue, was hostess, Friday, to a sewing club with eight women as guests. Stunts were put on and prizes awarded to Mrs. Jean Pilot and Mrs. C. A. Kuy. A tea was served at a table decorated with lavender, purple and red flowers.

Club to Meet Monday—Mrs. Daniel Skelly, 715 Fourth avenue, will entertain a bridge luncheon club, Monday afternoon. Eight women are members.

Junior Conley Has Birthday—Junior Don Conley, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Conley, 509 South High street, celebrated his second birthday, Thursday afternoon. Fourteen children were guests at a party at which games and stunts were diversions. Each child received a favor. The guest of honor presented with a small gift.

6 at Colonial Club Dinner—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Murkland and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lane, Beloit, were hosts at a dinner, Friday night, at the Colonial club. Dinner was served at 7 p. m. at a table arranged in an oblong, a floor basket filled with plum blossoms occupying the open space in the center. Twelve baskets of sweet peas were placed on the table. Apple and plum blossoms and Japanese lanterns decorated the dining room and terrace. Refreshments were served by the hostess' daughter, assisted by two other little girls.

Jefferson P. T. to Elect Officers—The Jefferson school Parent-Teachers' association will hold the annual meeting at 3:30 Tuesday afternoon at the school building. Officers will be elected and reports given by the delegates to the state P. T. convention at Oconomowoc. Miss Janet Cody and Miss Irene Orion will have charge of the program and Mrs. D. G. F. Phinney, chairman; M. Dornan, H. D. Murdock, H. Jacobs and Oscar Nelson, comprise the general committee on arrangements.

Willing Workers Meet Tuesday—Willing Workers of St. Peter's church will meet Tuesday night, at the home of Miss Elizabeth Diehl, 1127 Roger avenue.

Ziebell-Dalley—Miss Peggy Ziebell, 212 South River street, this city, and Franelle Dalley, Delavan, were united in marriage Saturday night, April 26, at Christ Episcopal Church, Delavan, by the Rev. Donon Upjohn. Miss Nellie Valley, the bride's sister, and Alfred Peterman, attended the ceremony. Miss and Mrs. Dalley have taken up their residence at 3033 South Eighth street, Delavan. The groom is employed at a Delavan garage.

Son Born—A son was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Easton, Black Bridge road, route 8. He will be named Robert Carl.

Return from South—Miss Rita Hodson and Miss Alice E. Long, 22 South Wisconsin street, have returned to their home in this city after spending the winter in the south.

When Milady Goes a Shopping

When Monday morning came, the phone rang announcing that Miss Laundress will not appear today. I felt a sudden panic! Sickness sweeps over me. "What in the world is the matter now, either it's myself and after the consequential backache, or it's without the clean clothes, which is out of the question." Suddenly a thought occurred to me to send for that man at the Home Electric shop who so graciously offered to do my washing any time. Within a few minutes an American Beauty Washer was noiselessly at work, forcing the water over, through and under the clothes, getting into every thread and cleaning them thoroughly within its corrugated copper tub. The forty-six up and down strokes every minute charms up millions of soap bubbles and cleanses the clothes just as you could do if you were washing them by hand. At the same time we put in six sheets, another time the daintiest of baby clothes and they were washed equally serviceable, the linens in gorgeous shades of Mexican, rose, brown, lavender, blue and gold. One is the all-over embossed linen. Linen clothes have several uses which is one is white linen, embossed elaborately in gold. Another is plain rose colored linen with panels set in of the rose cyivet embroidery. Hand drawn work makes an effective trimming while many are trimmed with collars, cuffs and pockets of white linen. For the most part they are straight lined with narrow string tie, but there are variations like the lace and Maline cord dress models with groups of plait on the sides and some with circular flowers bound in color. The striped tubs and cotton broadcloths bid fair to be popular this year. Gaily figured red crepes, and foulards, are attractively made. Infinite styles, materials and trimmings in the display of summer dresses which Bostwick's have now ready.

Footwear has threats become parched and dry when those first warm days of summer come upon us so surprisingly. After an hour or two of shopping, our shoes feel too small and it seems as if we would pass out right then and there if we did not have some kind of refreshment or one. That means we manage to stagger into Bazzock's and sink into a comfortable booth. What a relief, we think, now for something cool! We waver between an ice cold orangeade (what is there about that orange shade that reminds one of lemons and snow drifts?) and a banana split, with fresh phenolic made into a rich syrup and mixed with ice cream, topped with fluffy whipped cream. Just then we see someone order a brand new drink—fresh strawberry malted milk; the most delectable colored drink you could imagine. It is made with fresh strawberries, banana ice cream, a syrup of fresh strawberries with pieces of the whole berries in it and malted milk all whirled in a creamy, fluffy cool drink. Another malted milk drink has pieces of bananas whipped in to give it a rich flavor. It is quite likely that these two new drinks will become as popular as the famous chocolate malted milks. There are dozens of these refreshing drinks and dishes served at Bazzock's and after having one you go forth feeling as if you had been given a new lease on life. "Ain't it wonderful what a little drink will do?"

Four-year-old Mary came home from the party quite disconsolate. While her mother stooped to unfasten her dress, Mary's eyes brimmed with tears. When her mother questioned her, she replied, "I don't know why," she replied, "they don't match my dress." Kathi's socks match my dress. Kathi's stockings don't match. Kathi's socks match my dress. Kathi's stockings don't match. Mary had apparently been a closer observer of juvenile fashions than had her mother, who did not know that it was possible to obtain socks of fibre silk in any shade. It is in the store, K. H. K. and Chas. Louie's mother had bought theirs at J. C. Penney & Co. for there they found the best selection in town. Colors, including peacock, buttercup yellow, grey, tan, pink and sky blue, to say nothing of the stunning combinations of white with blue, red, yellow or black stripes or, and the tan, and in all sizes from infants to teen. The smaller sizes have the fibre silk with a soft like tone striped in contrasting colors such as white with blue, pink or maize tan. Then there are the dainty solid colors to match their fluffy little frocks of orchid, yellow, pink or blue. But when my little lady grows older she grows more fastidious so for her, Penney's have the whole stock of fibre silk in all the various shades and colors and no such reasonable prices makes one as can afford to buy a robe to match every little dress.

Outlasting the famous Frysman, from whose emblem the strap vague has come, Frysman's contribution this season is the addition of still more straps. Low heeled sandals seem to hold sway for summer. Rehberg's are featuring two new models with the very low, very rubber heels. One is of black patent which is one of the most popular this year and has the pointed toe leading up to the one ankle strap. Numerous narrow ankle strap like performances adorn the sides and toes, making them cool and airy for summer, to say nothing of their style. For street wear, black satin rivals patent. They are not new, however, too when a single strap and net work of lace encloses the toe. For real blistering summer days, though, nothing quite takes the place of white kid to set off the light colored frocks, and Rehberg's have several neat models. Much the same styles prevail in the short one and two strap sandals behind the think. Each day brings new arrivals in summer footwear.

MAKE WIDE SEARCH FOR ESCAPED THIEF

Kunz, Who Leaped from Police Car Here, Wanted in Several Cities.

Police of Janesville and a half-dozen other cities in southern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois are on the lookout for Emil Kunz, alias Mike Cones, who escaped from a local police car while on his way to the lockup, Friday, and is believed to have left the city in a stolen Chevrolet. Cones, "Kunz, who has rooms from a bad actor," said Chief Charles Newman, Saturday, in commenting on his escape here. "Had the officers known what he was wanted for when they arrested him, they would have tried him, but they were unaware he had been arrested at the call from Beloit and refused merely requesting that he be picked up."

According to information received by the police, Saturday, Kunz is the man who escaped from Marshal Roy Ties at Brookhead several months ago, just as he was about to be locked up. That same day he is alleged to have stolen a car in Belvidere, Ill. Trailed from that city to Joliet, Ill., he abandoned the car there and stole another, police say.

Proposal to Have Red Cross Relief Worker Favored

A proposed plan by which the Red Cross would employ a trained welfare worker and serve as a clearing house for relief work, was considered favorably by representatives of most of the civic and charitable organizations of the city at a meeting in the Red Cross office, Friday at which the proposed welfare worker, in addition to the community, cannot afford to delay longer in adopting a program of constructive relief and preventive welfare work. All expressed deep regret over the failure of the county board to adopt the plan presented to them or any other measure that would enable the county to cooperate in a constructive manner with other agencies.

The question of whether the city should employ a welfare worker was discussed, and all agreed that this would be the ideal plan, if the city council would appropriate funds for the support of such a worker. It was suggested that the work might be conducted on a small scale, and taken over by the city after its value had been demonstrated to the citizens, as was done with the school nurse.

Lawrence Mitchell, director of field activities for the central division of the American Red Cross, and Miss Clara Sonnenberg, field agent, were present. It was suggested that the proposed worker be serving as a clearing house for all relief work and providing family welfare investigators in many cities throughout the country. The expense of adding this department would require larger budget than the exact sum being dependent on the amount of direct relief granted by the Red Cross, and the amount that might be turned over to other agencies.

A motion for a committee to investigate the matter further was passed unanimously.

Ira Wortendyke, president of the Janesville branch, was made chairman, with the privilege of appointing a committee.

Those present at the meeting and organizations represented were as follows: City Manager Henry Traylor; Councilman Mrs. Emma H. Manning; Dr. Fred B. Welch and Mrs. Hulda; Andrews, health department; Rev. Henry Willmann, Elks Lodge; Anti-Tuberculosis Association and Associated Charities; Clark, Mrs. Grace Mount, L. F. Bennett and Mrs. Florence Hyde, members Salvation Army executive board; Mrs. P. L. Munger, City Federation of Women; Oscar Nelson, Chamber of Commerce; Rev. James F. Ryan, St. Patrick's church; Miss Hattie Alden, Ira F. Wortendyke, Red Cross.

Will Buy Piano for Quarters of Patriotic Clubs

Purchase of piano for use in the new quarters of the Janesville patriotic societies on the second floor of the city hall was authorized at a meeting of representatives of the 10 organizations in the city hall, Friday afternoon. The piano will be moved into assembly hall on Monday.

The committee also voted to have a piano installed in the room formerly used as a dental clinic. This will be fitted up as a kitchenette for the preparation of light lunches. Supplies of dishes and utensils have already been moved into the new location.

It was decided to sponsor some sort of entertainment, probably a movie, to cover the cost of the new equipment.

John Goss, Jr., commander of the American Legion, is permanent chairman of the united anti-tuberculosis, Mrs. J. A. Barlow, of the Ladies of the G. A. R., secretary; and C. J. Schott, of the G. A. R., treasurer.

Paving Notices

Near 500 Mark; Monday Last Day

Assurance that the number of people paying cash in full for paving this year will be more than $500 was indicated at noon Saturday, when a total of 429 election to pay notices had been filed with the city clerk. Monday is the last day for filing the notices, after that day bonds will be required for paving against property where the owners have not signed their intention of paying cash in full upon the completion of paving. Once the property is bonded, the assessment must be paid in 10 equal installments over a two-year period and the bonds cannot be taken up in full at any time a person desists. The interest rate for the bonds will be 5% per cent.

MOVIE PROJECTOR TAKES LONGEST TRIP

The longest trip yet made by the Gazette movie projector was taken Friday night, when the film program was presented at Fairview School, town of Avon. This school is located on the Wisconsin side of the state line road. The trip from Janesville was via Brookhead going east via Wauwatosa and Rockton, Ill., returning. Seven reels of pictures were shown to an audience that packed the school building.

Miss Florence H. Day is the teacher.

Increase in Deaths Among Younger Women.

Rollo H. Bratton, statistician of the United States health service, reports that there is a considerable increase in the mortality of young women between the ages of 20 and 30. These deaths have been caused by influenza, pneumonia and tuberculosis. At a time when we are struggling to decrease the rate of death from tuberculosis, the news is disconcerting. What effect the changes in dress and manner of living has upon this is of course not stated. The Boston Transcript in commenting on this report says that "When the pneumonia streptococcus sees a young woman, with bare throat and chest, plodding through slush in four-strap sandals, how he must chortle! Of course it may be contended that the gaities, otherwise the irregular habits, of modern society tend to increase the death rate."

But young men seem to participate in such gaities as much as do the young women, and the death rate of the young men is not increasing. In fact, with the marked increase in the general span of human life, any increased mortality among the younger women must be regarded as the more startling.

Congress cares nothing whatever for a deficit. It just laughs at such trifles and snaps its fingers in contempt.

Not All Like Butler.

Not all the college and university presidents are like Nicholas Murray Butler. In actual fact he stands entirely alone. Other presidents are not of the opinion that because we have no law enforcement we should not train for law observance. Practically every one of the college presidents believes in the observance of the 18th amendment and the enforcement of the laws enacted to carry out the terms of the constitution. What they have to say is interesting at this time when Mr. Butler is being so much quoted.

The brilliant and far-visioned President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot of Harvard is an advocate of the Eighteenth Amendment and repeatedly in public utterances has stressed the benefits accruing from it and the necessity for its strict enforcement.

"Among other statements he has made is the following:

"The American democracy—the only thorough-going democracy in the world—has determined to ensure its safety and progress by suppressing the monstrous evil of modern alcoholism. The democracy believes this to be a right use of its collective power, although at some cost to individual liberty; and it thinks that this temporary loss of valued liberty by individuals will soon appear, even to the losers, a great benefit."

"President Hibberd of Princeton University has come out in strong terms for upholding the prohibition law. He has been quoted as saying that the purchasers of liquor from the bootlegger are hastening the day of the red flag in the United States. 'Liberty,' he says, 'has no significance unless conferred by law.' He has taken a determined stand to bar liquor from the Princeton Reunion in June and to make the commencement absolutely dry."

"Mary E. Woolley, President of Mount Holyoke College, has declared: 'Prohibition has had a great influence on the betterment of home life.'

"Dr. Walter Dill Scott, President of Northwestern University, has said: 'Civilization has taken an advance step and has done so with possibly less opposition than any of us imagined five years ago. The success of the amendment in America makes it practically certain that our example will be followed by the other nations of the world.'

"Former President M. Carey Thomas of Bryn Mawr College has frequently declared for prohibition. She stated at the meeting of the Advisory Committee of Disarmament, of which she is a member, that the education of women, the enactment of prohibition and the securing of peace were the three great reforms of the present age."

"Dr. Ernest D. Burton, President of the University of Chicago, has said: 'The administrative officers of the University of Chicago regard the use of intoxicating liquor by students as physically and morally dangerous and as contrary to the spirit of the law of the land. They, therefore, believe that it tends to defeat the purpose of education. The university will not tolerate the use of intoxicants by its students in territory subject to its government and will exert its influence to discourage such use of them everywhere. In accordance with this policy, the university has dismissed one student and suspended two others.'

"President James Rowland Angell of Yale University has said to the student body, 'You cannot under the Federal law, and you cannot under the university law, bring intoxicating liquors into any building of the university. Whatever you may think of the Eighteenth Amendment or the moderate use of liquor, this rule holds.'

Making Doctors of Presidents

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington.—Among the few agreeable duties of United States presidents is the graceful acceptance of honorary doctor's degrees. It is a poor June that does not bring at least one LL.D. to the nation's chief executive, and occasionally he is the recipient of three or four. This custom of making doctors of presidents began with Washington and has continued, with but few lapses, since, so that while several of our presidents have entered the White House without a college degree, few have come out without one.

In recent years, of course, American universities have become so lavish in the distribution of honorary degrees that such gifts are losing some of their pristine glory. Successful business men of today, for example, are often far more decorated than learned scientists, and our Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Hoover, has a collection of scholarly initials about four times as large as that of his chief, President Coolidge, who, so far, is the owner of LL.D.'s from six American houses of learning—Amherst, Williams college, Bates college, Wesleyan University, the University of Vermont, and Johns Hopkins University. In the old days, honors of this kind were far more scarce—so scarce, in fact, that even some United States presidents failed to receive them.

Princeton heads the list for the highest number of honors bestowed by any one college or university upon presidents of the United States. It has made doctors of twelve chief executives, although not always at the time they occupied the White House, beginning with Thomas Jefferson, upon whom it conferred an LL.D. in 1791, while he was secretary of state in Washington's cabinet. It also gave degrees to James Madison, in 1797; James Monroe, in 1822; John Quincy Adams, in 1806; James Buchanan, in 1850; Abraham Lincoln, in 1864; Chester Alan Arthur, in 1884; Grover Cleveland, in 1897; Benjamin Harrison, in 1888; William Howard Taft, in 1912; Woodrow Wilson, in 1916, and Warren G. Harding, in 1922.

Harvard follows a close second, with eleven presidents on its honor list, including Washington, John Adams, Jefferson, Monroe, John Quincy Adams, Jackson, Grant, Hayes, Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson. Yale comes next, having made doctors of eight presidents—namely, Washington, Adams, Jefferson, Hayes, McKinley, Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson. The University of Pennsylvania and Brown University have each conferred the same degree on five presidents. Pennsylvania chose to honor Washington, Garfield, Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson, while Brown's list includes Washington, Adams, Jefferson, Taft and Wilson.

Presidents Adams, Monroe, Pierce and Wilson received an LL.D. from Dartmouth, and Union college gave the same degree to Van Buren, Grant, Arthur and Taft. Columbia University thus honored Lincoln and Roosevelt and is the only college to have the name of President Johnson on its honorary alumni list. Williams College gave its doctorate of laws to Garfield and Wilson, and an LL.D. to Roosevelt. Johns Hopkins conferred a Ph. D. on Woodrow Wilson, and an LL.D. on Presidents Hayes, Taft and Coolidge.

A close study of this list of presidents doctorated by our most dignified halls of American learning fails to shed much light on their doctoring policy. In other words, it is impossible to detect any special rule or reason for their selections. Presidents Roosevelt and Taft are the two presidents whose collection of scholastic honors is the greatest, and the only two presidents to be decorated by universities outside their own country.

Roosevelt's degrees were not only many but varied. During the last few years of his life, he was entitled to write after his name fourteen LL.D.'s, one LL. B., one D. C. L., two Ph. D.'s (one) and one S. D. (Hon.) besides the original on A. B. which he earned at Harvard.

This list included degrees from five foreign universities—Cambridge, Oxford, Leipzig, Berlin, Christiania and Buenos Aires. Mr. Taft's foreign degree comes from McGill University in Montreal, which conferred an LL. D. on him in 1913. At the present stage of his career as Chief Justice he possesses thirteen other honorary degrees besides. The only other president who could compete with his record was Woodrow Wilson, with twelve honorary doctorates to his credit, all of which were conferred upon him before he entered the White House.

While this total may appear ridiculously meager compared to the vast collections of scholastic honors enjoyed by industrial magnates, Y. M. C. A. secretaries and congressmen, it is more than twice as large as that acquired by earlier chieftains of the republic. Only five universities saw fit to honor Washington, Jefferson and McKinley; four made doctors of John Adams and Rutherford B. Hayes; three so distinguished James Monroe, James Buchanan and Ulysses S. Grant; and only two cared to honor Lincoln. Four presidents, moreover, managed to get through their turbulent careers without any recognition from our dignified halls of learning.

The first president to be neglected in this respect was William Henry Harrison, hero of the Indian wars, who was chosen by the hectic Whigs of log-cabin and hand-elder fame. Harrison, whose parents wanted him to go to college, had studied for a time at Hampden-Sydney College in Virginia, but the record of his studies is incomplete. Probably, however, as a student was short, as the outbreak of the Indian war caused him to join St. Clair's army at Fort Washington at the early age of nineteen, he died so soon after reaching the White House that he had had practically no chance to present him with doctorates.

John Tyler, who succeeded him, was graduated from Williams and Mary College in 1806. Although Tyler was a strong and singular personality and an able statesman, his administration was immensely unpopular, which probably explains why he never received any but his bachelor's degree.

Zachary Taylor was another military hero, who died soon after entering the White House, thereby perhaps cheating the colleges of an appreciative candidate for scholastic honors. Millard Fillmore, who finished Taylor's term, had received very few early educational advantages, owing to the poverty of his family, but he was an earnest student, with more real book-learning and culture than most of our presidents. His great respect for scholastic education would have made him especially appreciative of an honorary degree, but none was ever conferred on him.

Of all our thirty-one executives, Andrew Johnson was probably the least educated. Appointed to a taller when he was only 10 years old, he never went to school and could neither read nor cipher until after his marriage, when his wife taught him. It was not until he came to Congress that he succeeded in writing his name with any facility. Yet Columbia made him a Doctor of Laws in 1865.

The most learned of our early presidents was unquestionably Thomas Jefferson, who possessed an extraordinarily alert and well-organized mind. Throughout his life he was deeply interested in the cause of education, for which he did more than any of the early occupants of the White House. It was Jefferson who gave the nation its first library. He also founded a university of which he was so justly proud that he directed that the words, "Founder of the University of Virginia," should be inscribed on his tomb.

The Prohibition Amendment has endorsed Berger, Schaefer, Schneider and Voigt of Wissconsin as being able to stand with the foot solidly on the brass rail.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE EXCUSE.
I told him that my child is sick.
And thought perhaps he hadn't heard;
He led me in to make a kick.
Because some blunder had occurred.
"Did you do this?" he screamed at me.
I said I did, and told him why.
"That's no excuse at all!" said he;
"I said to sell, and you wrote buy."

It's funny how some men forget.
All that life teaches, day by day,
They suffer pain and grief and yet
The memory of it fades away.
"That's no excuse," was what he said.
And I had sat up all night long
Watching beside my Billy's bed.
And it was no wonder I did wrong.

Perhaps I did deserve his rage.
But still I did the best I could;
My mind was never on the page,
And that he should have understood.
Of course the blunder I regret.
But does a man's mind turn so cold
That hours of anguish 'll will forget?
He had a sick child once, I'm told.

HOROSCOPE

MONDAY, MAY 19, 1924.

Jupiter and Mars in benevolent aspect dominate this day, according to astrology, which foretells good luck for many dwellers on the Earth. It is a sway under which merchants and manufacturers will be justified in seeking their own ends, and for profit, is indicated for those who desire to expand their business projects.

Men who exercise authority are well directed, it is foreseen, and they should benefit from the pleasant influences potent during this government.

Again the President of the United States and others who hold in their grasp great responsibilities appear to be favored by the planetary direction.

Constructive work of every sort should prosper at this time when building operations are especially favored by the influence of Mars.

Military men will enjoy attention during the month. It is prophesied that fortune and good fortune will be with them.

They who value peace should beware of indulging any form of race prejudice, for the direct meeting cause would be as inconceivable as smoke without fire.

So far as the weather is concerned, the stars foretell a favorable day for outdoor sports.

The broothood of man should be preached and accepted as the standard of national and international relations, the seers admonish.

The Moon today is in Sagittarius a sign making for restlessness and emotional excitability.

It is a day for the bold and the bold and a better day for the timid.

The stars declare that muggers are to prowl during the summer which will bring extraordinary demands for their work.

Mexico is to offer many business opportunities during the coming months in which many persons will cross the boundary line from the United States.

Persons whose birthday it is have the advantage of an active year which will be prosperous in many ways. There may be some danger of disloyalty among friends.

Children born on this day probably will be energetic and adventurous. Those subjects of Taurus should be strong. Gemini characters, on the other hand, are likely to be versatile and able to deal successfully with their fellow men.

Deny existence all you please;

Concerning microbes and disease;

But, I pray you, don't ignore

Those dusty carpets on your floor.

The stars declare that muggers are to prowl during the summer which will bring extraordinary demands for their work.

Thrift community which neglects to keep up the fight against malaria-bearing mosquitoes is overlooking a very profitable investment.

I heard the measured, heavy tread,

Like some sentry—alarming;

Then boomed forth a voice that said:

Wherida put that parlorie?"

Captain Francis Newcombe laughs now—aloud.

"So you think there's some one in there, do you, Runnels?" he drawled.

"You," said Runnels, and drew away a little. "On board, it just the same as I did, but—I don't understand what you—"

"You will in a minute!" Captain Francis Newcombe's voice was still a drawl. "But meanwhile we'll see whether you're right or not. You don't mind going first, do you, Runnels?" His revolver muzzle was suddenly pressed against the small of Runnels' back. "I've known you to be a bit tricky at times. Go on!"

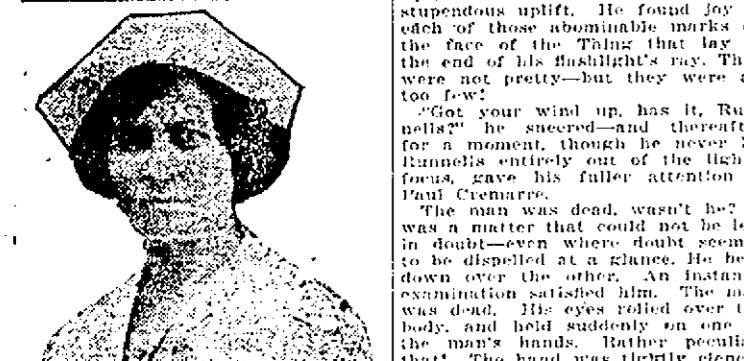

Something like a whisper came from Runnels. He stood frozen.

"Go on! In order there! Will you come out of your first of all, Captain Francis. Newcombe's voice snapped now. "Move!"

A push from the revolver muzzle sent Runnels forward.

"What—what are you doing this to me for?" the man burst out in a shaken voice again.

Captain Francis Newcombe made no answer. He too had heard the voice under there, but if Runnels were up to some more of his games it would avail Runnels very little now. Runnels' body, if there now by any chance some one ahead here in the darkness, made a most excellent and effective shield. It was entirely black in here, and now under foot, as they went forward, in place

SAVED HER FROM NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

"About two months ago, I was in a very run-down condition—appetite gone, and on verge of a breakdown—always tired out and nervous. I was inclined to try all sorts of things, but didn't have enough faith in it at first, to begin to notice improvement after taking it a week, and have gained 10 pounds in weight. I feel much better now, much better than I have been for a long time. I feel like a different person. Any one doubting the virtues of Vigorlac will be convinced of its usefulness, even after a short time."

MRS. L. E. NEWSON, Wheeler, Ind.

Vigorlac, so both physicians and general public say, is one of the most effective tonics ever offered the American people.

First, it sends a rich red stream of blood through the system, purifying the body of all disease.

It stimulates the organs of digestion, aiding the food and sending it into the blood stream, gently, yet powerfully.

It removes all poisons and the poisons' toxins that have accumulated.

The appetite improves. Color comes into the cheeks. You look better, feel better and go about your work singing.

Vigorlac does that. People from all walks of life who go to it, demand more and more, and are not more pleased with the results, demand your money back. You will get it——as well as you can afford it.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred is happy to advise all mothers about the care of their children of any age or on any subject which does not belong in the field of the doctor.

PRE-NATAL DIET AND FOR THE NURSING MOTHER

The diet for the nursing mother is exactly that with which the mother has kept herself in health during the nine months of pregnancy. During pregnancy it is well to eat down one's allowance of meat, not to exceed two ounces daily, but after the baby is born if the mother is a lover of meat and wants to eat twice a day there is no reason in it.

During the lactation period one has to think of the same problems as before birth, the necessity of supplying the body with such elements that the mother will be kept nourished and furnish a supply for the growing child.

It is a mistake to "stuff" during either period in the lactation period for two. One should have a wholesome and adequate diet, but not an excessive one that puts a burden on the eliminative organs, and already too large.

Adequate means sufficient to supply the body with fuel for its needs, and this does not mean bulk, nearly so much as it means something of all the different food elements that are necessary to run the human furnace.

Fats—such as cream and butter, bacon fat, fats of all kinds.

Carbohydrates, which means bread, cereals, sugars and most vegetables.

Protein, which means milk and cheeses and meat.

Minerals, which are found in fruits and vegetables and the outer husks of grains.

These, with water, constitute the elements of an adequate diet.

Here, then, is what one should eat daily when pregnant or nursing a baby:

Meat—Eggs, fish, four times a week.

Vegetables—Three green vegetables daily, cooked or raw, in salad. When cooking vegetables use some of the water in which they are cooked, so that one gets the value of the mineral salts.

Fruits—Twice a day, raw, unless cooked.

Cereals—Bread and sweets.

Whole wheat, rye or graham bread, oats, wheat, barley or unhusked rice as cereals; honey and brown sugar as sweets.

Eight glasses of water.

One quart milk, coffee or tea, only once a day.

Beauty Chats

By EDNA KENT FORBES

NOME SUGGESTIONS

A woman who has been reading various chats about removing superfluous hair from the face wants to know what to do to hairs growing too far down her back, between the shoulder blades, which clip them.

There are various things she can try. One is to brush those little locks upwards each time she does her hair and so get them into the habit of growing upwards. Then continue them under cap-shaped hair net. Cap-shaped nets are specially good for this, since they clip only the hair and do not pull the hair out of the back without being uncomfortable.

Another suggestion is to have a hair dressing shop shave off these strands with the clippers they use for men's and children's hair. Having this done once in two or three months would keep these down, they would never be in the way. Of course, if clipping will break the hair come in thicker—at least, the chances are that it will—but thick hair can be combed properly; it's only the wispy strands that are ugly.

Another suggestion is to use a depilatory. But if you do, be careful and have someone else put on the paste and wash it off. Depilatories

Minnetonka Junction, Wis.—"I was under treatment, but nothing seemed to help me, and I was run-down and so weak that I had to remain in bed much of the time and was like an invalid. I had pains in my abdomen and in the female organs, and my stomach bothered me. My husband saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised, thought it must be good, and brought it home to me and advised me to try it. After taking one bottle I was able to eat, and after six bottles I was doing my own work, which I hadn't been able to do for years. I have a new baby who is doing nicely, and I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and feeling better than I have for four years. The medicine is surely wonderful."

Mrs. GEORGE SPINK, Minnetonka, Wisconsin.

BLUE EYES: I consider a girl of 20 years to go to dances and parties with a boy even if another girl is little more than a child, and therefore should not be participating in the pleasures of a young lady. She should have time for her studies and long nights of sleep so that when she is older she will have the physical strength to enjoy life and bear life's responsibilities. In a year or so it will be all right for you to go to a party occasionally, but even when you are 16 and 17 you need plenty of rest.

RELIGIOUS BATH

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a man 25 years of age and have been keeping steady company with a girl 20 years of age for the past year. I really love this girl and she says she loves me, but we are of different religions.

We get along very well and often talk about getting married. Is marriage often a success where the husband and wife are of different religions but both really love each other? We have no objections and seem to have no objections to our going on thinking in our own

Wall Street Review.

New York.—Stock trading ranged irregularly lower in this week's market in direct reflection of a similar market after an early period of firmness founded on the more optimistic news of the weekly mercantile reviews. Uncertainty as to what net concessions would be made to the other nations vetoed the and the absence of many traders over the weekend was held responsible for the lack of speculative interest. First-day trading in the stock market has been a steady increase in investment buying, as result of cheap money, but buying has been largely by yield considerations. It has had little effect on stock prices. Prices of bonds, particularly the high grade issues, have held relatively firm with most of the time spent in a wait-and-see attitude.

The reduction in money rates and the favorable outlook for the acceptance of the Dawes report have been largely ignored by the stock market. There has been a steady increase in investment buying, as result of cheap money, but buying has been largely by yield considerations. It has had little effect on stock prices. Prices of bonds, particularly the high grade issues, have held relatively firm with most of the time spent in a wait-and-see attitude.

Unfavorable domestic trade news has encouraged a resumption of bear operations, but these have been somewhat restricted by the apparent scarcity of stocks at current prices. Steel shares were depressed, as 57,000 tons in the unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation. Copper gave ground as the price of the red metal sagged to 12 cents.

Sugars were depressed as a result of the unsettled condition of the raw and refined markets. Motors and motor accessory shares were subjected to pressure on reports of decreased sales and increased unemployment in the automobile centers.

WHAT WOULD YOU SAY?

"Arrested for Non-Support"

The price of a tankful of gasoline or of a couple boxes of cigarettes or a few hanks of lace or of half a pair of shoes for the young blood goes to Mrs. Laura Miller of Broadhead this week. "Arrested for Non-Support," takes the beautiful silk crowbar, in the words of the note, and the man in his high-chaperoned condition and with most of his necessities left behind appealed to the fans who turned out several good titles. Listen:

"An Early Fall Predicted," also by Mrs. Miller; "A Call for Redress," Mrs. L. W. Hayward, Beloit; "An Unsupported Advocate," Mrs. D. E. L. Evans, Beloit; "Mother's Day," and "A Dress without Dressing," Mrs. F. M. Warner, Milton Junction; "Dress in Haste and Be-pant at Leisure," George W. Lyon, Pittsburgh, Pa.; "Somewhere A Voice Is Calling" and "Stringing Up Father," Bertha Coon, Milton.

It doesn't take much time or effort to think of a title if you get into the habit of turning it over in your mind. Try making comments on the picture, as you would if you saw the event itself and were tossing any preface back and forth with a friend. Then jot it down on a card, not more than 10 words and send it to the paper editor. You can't arrive by Thursday, you know. Try it! Make a haphazard title that struck some reader as funny when it popped into his mind; has copied the weekly $2.50 and has raised in the editorial room gobs of laughter that is highly infectious. Hoping you are the same.

TITLE EDITOR.

JEFFERSON

Jefferson—Application for marriage licenses have been made the past week by the following: Marion E. Maxwell, Fort Atkinson, and West MacCarpenter, Detroit; Elroy Edward Berek, Watertown, and Hilda Lehmann, Lake Mills; Edward T. Sprenger, Watertown, and Tekla M. Sydow, Watertown.

The Jubilee Minstrels were presented by Wagon Company, 114, at the Army and Navy Auditorium, Saturday, to a capacity house. Paul Barrenthout was Inter-actor, Frankin Wright and Franklin Ladkin were comedians. Roy Miller, Alvin Stephan, Joe Berg and Earl Harrison were endmen. The chorus consisted of Elton Whitehead, Ed. Spieh, Herbert Westphal, Edward Kremser, Alfred Schmidauer, Roy Nichols, Lee Ladd, Arthur Park, Dick Seitz, Mike O'Dwyer, Harold Neis, Glen Zimmerman, and Albert Kramse. Joe Pelech's orchestra played. Miss Rose Fischer was accompanist and Harry H. Bleckschmidt was business manager.

The mixed choir of the St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church has arranged a sacred concert for Sunday night. The choir will sing two Milwaukee and also, Paul Karr and Paul Jungkunz. Prof. Paul Jungkunz is a violinist. The choir will sing four numbers, in two of them the children's chorus taking part. No admission will be charged, but a collection will be taken.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin C. Haas returned Thursday evening after spending a few days in Columbus. Misses Eva and Laura Beron are visiting relatives over the weekend at West Allis.

Mrs. E. Philip Mueller and son, Richard, spent Saturday at Watertown.

Mr. Charles Lamm, agent Thursday for the Wagon Company, Milwaukee, was home Saturday.

Black Gold Rules as the Favorite in Kentucky Derby

(The Associated Press)
Red Hot Game
Marks Jeff-Lake
in Inter-County

Louisville, Ky.—The 49 year old question of east meeting west for turf supremacy comes up for decision in the historic Churchill Downs course Saturday when 20 of the nation's track three year olds face the barrier for the 50th renewal of the Kentucky derby.

East and west are divided into two camps with Harry P. Shaefer's Madplay and Braendahl the favored choices of the east, while Maxine, G. L. and the Louisville derby at New Orleans last winter, is the hope of the west and the favorite of the race. Beau Butler, owned by E. R. Bradley, and Harry Payne Whitney's Transmuted, which finished second in the Preakness a week ago, are considered dangerous contenders.

The race, with a purse of $63,800, will run over the derby route of a mile and one quarter. The prize to the winner will be $38,800 in addition to gold plate worth $5,000, while $6,000 will go to second horse, $3,000 to the third and $1,000 to the fourth. Crowd of 100,000.

With prospects of a warm day with plenty of sunshine, Mattie Winn, general manager of the Kentucky Derby club, predicted a record-breaking attendance of 150,000 to 160,000 persons will witness the race. If the crowd exceeds 75,000 officials said all records for horse racing attendance in this country would be broken.

Although experts agreed that Saturday's race is one of the most open in the history of the derby, the field has qualities that will make it one of its brightest contests within years. St. James, winner of the Futurity last winter; Wise Counselor, one of the early favorites; and Sarazen, undefeated as a two year old, failed to stand the rigors of training.

Black Gold, owned by Mrs. E. M. Hoots of Tulsa, Okla., will start from the favored number one post position, while Madplay is considered as the best for a quick get-away and the worst for a slow start. Beau Butler, decked J. D. Meany, who was astride Black Gold for his sensational race in winning the derby trial last Tuesday, will be in the saddle, while Earl Sande, as the premier jockey of the country, will have the services of Braendahl.

Out at Churchill Downs everything is in readiness for the start of the race which will be about 4:45 p. m.

Central standard time. Guards patrolled the stables and the horses

after a light jog early in the morning, were groomed to await the call of the mystic bugle as the signal to go to the post.

PICTURES OF PEOPLE AND EVENTS TELL STORY OF WEEK

POTOMAC FLOOD WATERS LAP WITHIN MILE OF WHITE HOUSE

Above: A rescue worker, in rowboat, going to the aid of a marooned family near Washington; and below, a view of the main thoroughfare of Harper's Ferry, Va., now a roaring stream.

More damage to houses and factories in the lower sections of the national capital is feared as a result of the continued degradations of flood waters of the Potomac River.

A large part of Potomac Park, one of Washington's most beautiful spots, less than a mile from the White House, is flooded, and Bolling field, the army air station, is under water. No estimate has been made of

FORMER COTTON MILL GIRL, CALLED WORLD'S GREATEST VAMP, WEDS EARL

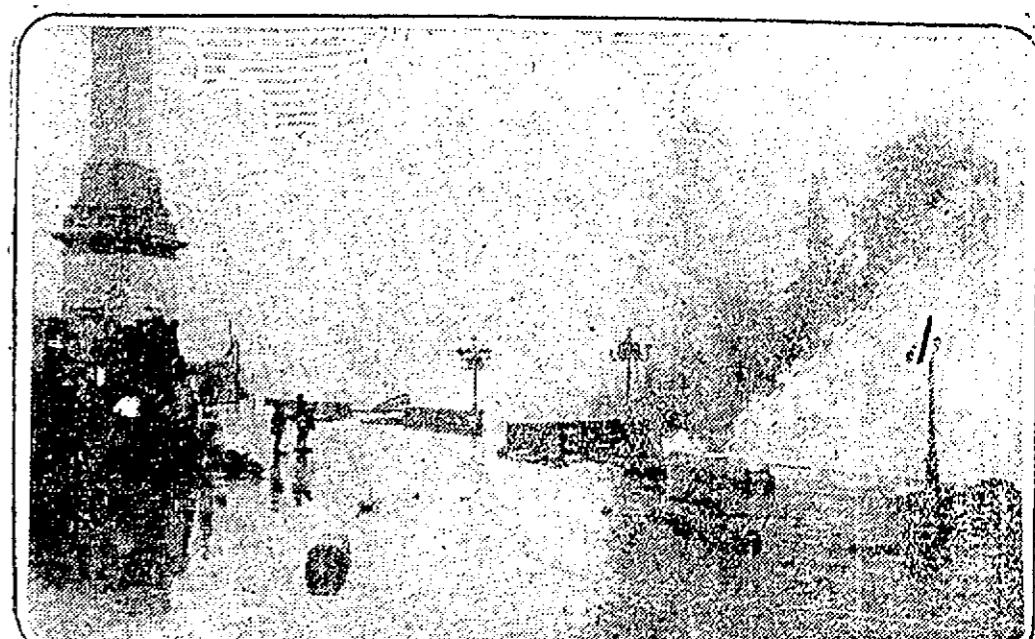

The Earl of Dudley and his bride, formerly Gertie Millar, just after their marriage.

Fairy stories do come true. Gertie Millar, former cotton mill girl and actress, is now a duchess, the wife of the Earl of Dudley, chief of the powerful house of Ward. The girl who has been called "the most accomplished vamp in the world" might have been the Duchess of Westminster long ago but for two obstacles, her husband, the late Lionel Monckton, playwright, and the duke's wife. Both refused to free their mates in order to clear the way for marriage. Gertie forgot Westminster when she met the Earl of Dudley.

MONSTER WAVES WRECK RIO DE JANEIRO WATERFRONT

Monster waves washing away the marble fencing of the promenade at Rio de Janeiro.

The promenade at Rio de Janeiro, one of the most beautiful sections of the "most beautiful city in South America," is a wreck as a result of the lashing of ocean waves.

The waves, some of them 60 feet high, destroyed considerable property along the waterfront of Rio.

SEEKING CORRUPTION IN WASHINGTON

J. Weston Allen (left) and Albert Burwitz.

The men who jailed Ponzi, convicted Tom Lawson and wiped out blackmail rings in Massachusetts, are now at work in Washington, "fixing responsibility for corruption within the federal service in an impartial manner." That is the avowed purpose of the Citizens' Federal Research Bureau, established in Washington by Frank A. Vanderlip, retired Wall Street banker, the direction of which he has turned over to J. Weston Allen, former attorney-general of Massachusetts, and his assistant, Albert Burwitz.

THREE HURT AS HOUSE COLLAPSES WHEN HIT BY AUTO

A view of the house after the crash.

Three persons were seriously injured and the house wrecked when a small truck got out of control of its driver and struck the supporting pillars of a house in Louisville, Ky., causing it to collapse. The three injured persons were buried in the debris when it fell.

COUPLE MARRIED FOR 70 YEARS HAVEN'T BEEN SEPARATED SINCE 1854

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Darby.

They have been married for 70 years. Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Darby of Youngstown, O., believe they have been married longer than any other couple in the United States. He is 97 and she is 90. They have not been separated since their marriage in 1854.

Count Carl Moltke.

The foreign minister in Denmark's new Socialist cabinet, Count Carl Moltke, was Denmark's minister in Washington from 1908 to 1912. His wife formerly was Miss Cornelie van Reusselaer Thayer of Boston.

CLOTHES SUGGESTED FOR THE BRIDE'S TROUSSEAU

A very bridey blouse is illustrated on the left. It is fashioned of white crepe de chine, and roses of red kidkin are appliqued on and set off by embroidered scrolls and leaves in "lazy daisy" stitch. In the center is a dainty printed crepe summer frock in blue and black with panels of red and green embroidery and a huge bow of two-toned ribbon on the left side. It has a matching scarf.

The coat of brown satin (seen on the right) is just the thing to wear over the frock. It, too, is trimmed with embroidery, this time in a Roman pattern. Cuffs and a band above the embroidery at the bottom are made of finely tucked trimming. It has a collar of soft brown fur. The large hat

Charles and Paul Hatfield.

The Hatfields—rainmakers extraordinary—are sighing for more clouds to conquer. They have just collected an $8,000 fee for efforts which farmers of the San Joaquin Valley in California believe were responsible for a $10,000,000 rain that ended a serious drought. "Lucky" say the skeptics. "Would have come any way," says the weather bureau. But Charles Hatfield was on the ground, operating with his rainmaking chemicals, when it came, so he collected.

ELKHORN

MRS. GRANT BARRINGTON.

Elkhorn—No services will be held at the Congregational church on Sunday owing to delay in arrival of the supports for the basement. Sunday school will be held at the usual hour, the following Sunday.

Martin W. Voss, Westland, and Irvin L. Voss, Lake Geneva, have made application at the County Clerk's office for a marriage license.

The King's Hornets had a party at the home of their teacher, Mrs. Zenia Grayson, Thursday evening.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Kueck, Milwaukee, yesterday. The baby, named Nancy Ann, weighed six pounds and was born in Elkhorn.

Warren Shaver, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Shaver, Spring Prairie, finished his course in watch making in Milwaukee this week and returned home with his father. Friday Warren will work for the summer, and, with his brother, Kyle Shaver, Delavan.

Fifteen club women from Elkhorn attended the reciprocity meeting given by the Womans' Council in Delavan, Saturday afternoon.

The benevolent room at the State school for the deaf will be given by Rev. A. B. Bell, Elkhorn, on June 1.

There was a run on stamps of the p. O. Friday but it was for the 1st issue of the rectangular ones marking the 50th anniversary of the settlement of New York by the Huguenots. They are the same colors but larger. In recent copies a view of the city New Netherland, the 2 cent gives the topography of the Wallabout and the 5 cent shows a marker of Manhattan.

A large collection from New York, No. 27 are getting tickets for the musical comedy May 23 and 24. The money raised will go towards paying the debt of the temple which was built in 1914 and is a great credit to the men who erected it. The "Puffin" chorus has never been seen before, but the show has given in New York with "standing room only" as every performance.

A GOOD POINT—
ON TIRE CARE—By "Red Top," the Tire Doctor.

WHEN YOU CUT, or scratch your skin, you do not let the cut fill up with muck and dirt, you protect the cut so it can properly heal.

NEGLECTED TIRES with tread cuts need the same attention, otherwise dirt collects in the cut, causing friction, separating the rubber from the fabric. Water gets into your fabric and rots it.

BY HAVING these small cuts vulcanized, you will be surprised at the increased life mileage you get.

WE GUARANTEE our vulcanizing, 30x3½ RED TOP cord tires, $8.75 and up.

ARE YOU A MODERN NOMAD?

The man today who does not own his home is little better off than the old nomad, who roamed about living a little while here and a little while there--with temporary shelter to protect him from the elements.

The modern nomad lives a little while here and a little while there in a rented home, moving each year in hope of bettering his condition: paying a higher price to try out another spot--but there's little difference.

The old nomad, whose most permanent roof was the blue heavens above, had it all over the moderns, who are roofed and walled in cramped quarters--constantly suffering the persecution of the average landlord, bound by one-sided, iron-ribbed leases. The old nomad had the freedom of God's health-giving fresh air and sunshine in abundance.

The ideal way to live is in your own home--where the atmosphere is restful, healthful, happy.

Stop being a nomad--settle down in a home that's yours--know what comfort, freedom and contentment are.

You can do it--we'll show you how.
